Specific requirements are as follows:

1. Based on the "International Flight Information Release (Phase 5)" released by the Civil Aviation Administration's official website on March 12, only one route operated by each domestic airline to any country can be retained, and each route is weekly. The operating frequency shall not exceed 1 flight; each foreign airline operating to China may only reserve 1 route, and the operating frequency shall not exceed 1 weekly.
2. Airlines are requested to apply for advance flight plans from the Civil Aviation Administration's Operation Monitoring Center in accordance with the above requirements.
3. The airlines shall reduce the route operation permits, take-off and landing times involved in the flights in accordance with the requirements of this notice and retain them.
4. All airlines shall strictly implement the latest edition of the "Technical Guide for Epidemic Prevention and Control of Transport Airlines" issued by the Office of the Civil Aviation Prevention and Control Leading Group. Adopt strict prevention and control measures on flights arriving and departing from China to ensure that the load factor is not higher than 75%.
5. According to the needs of epidemic prevention and control, our bureau may introduce a policy to further tighten the total number of international passenger flights. Please ask all airlines to pay close attention to it and study it in advance to deal with the postponement and refund of sold tickets.
6. All airlines may use passenger planes to carry out full cargo flights, and they are not included in the total number of passenger flights.
