Hi 5.1.2.e,

Hope you're well this morning. Please find attached a one-pager I put together for the Minister's briefing.

I hope this is helpful and do let me know if you have any questions.

Kind regards,

Hi 5.1.2.e,

Thanks for supplying the email addresses.

Your question is valid and we have been thinking how to best organize the discussion, especially since it will also be held digitally. One thing we want to prevent is that only lengthy introductions are made of everyone's viewpoint and that this leaves no room for discussion. Therefore, our preference is that viewpoints are shared as much as possible per topic to facilitate a more interactive conversation. Of course each company will make some sort of introduction, but we would like to urge you to not thoroughly address everything your company has done and will do against disinformation in your introduction.

In order to facilitate a more active discussion I think it also makes sense to change the order of the talking points so that the discussion is first about the most current topic, then what has already been done about disinformation and then moves towards future expectations. The talking points would then be in this order:

1. Dis- and misinformation during Covid-19
2. Fighting dis- and misinformation, and the role of tech companies in it
3. Transparency on dis- and misinformation policy and measures
4. Regulation and the Democracy Action Plan

This is how we think we can best organize the discussion around these topics. If you have any objections against it, feel free to let me know. We also still have to discuss the preparation and the dossier with the Minister's office, which may also lead to some changes in the approach. If that happens I will let you know.

Kind regards,

5.1.2.e

Thanks for this. Just a question, would you like in this call that each company addresses the four issues in an introduction? Or do you want to follow this agenda and then for each company to respond?

From Google, there are the email addresses:

Hi all,

Here a short update on the meeting from our side. First of all, I have a proposition for the talking points of the meeting. The proposed points are as follows:

1. Transparency on dis- and misinformation policy and measures
2. Fighting dis- and misinformation, and the role of tech companies in it
3. Dis- and misinformation during Covid-19
4. Regulation and the Democracy Action Plan

Please let me know if you agree on these talking points. Changes to them can be discussed. Adding topics to the list will be tricky due to time constraints, but I believe the topics are broad enough to fit most relevant matters into them. I am still working on the Minister's dossier for the meeting. I will include an overview of each of your companies' policy and measures against disinformation based on our prior conversations. So the Minister will be briefed on that.

For the practicalities of the meeting: The meeting will take place via the universally beloved platform WebEx, as this is still our government's only officially sanctioned videoconferencing tool. In order to host the meeting and send out to the invites we will need the e-mail addresses of your companies' representatives. If you could provide those to me that would be greatly appreciated.

Kind regards,

Hi all,

Good to hear that most of you can already confirm your representation for the call. I have confirmed the date and time with the Minister's office.

I will start working on talking points and a dossier to prepare the Minister. My aim is to keep the discussion focused around mis- and disinformation. I will take [redacted]'s suggested talking points into consideration and I will share with you an initial proposal for talking points probably at the beginning of next week. One topic the Minister has indicated she would like to address is the need for more transparency.

If you have any talking points for the meeting please let me know. Also if you have any useful factsheets or other practical documents that I can add to the dossier to inform the Minister on your companies' policy, that would be really helpful.

I look forward to the meeting and I will keep you posted on any developments!

Hi all,

We have consulted with the Minister's office again and their new proposal is a meeting of 45 minutes on the 25th of June from 13.00-13.45. Due to her busy schedule until parliament's summer recess on the 7th of July this was the maximum time that could be made available.

As stated before, we believe that if we brief the Minister well on recent developments and each of your companies' policies (possibly aided by factsheets from your side) that we can have a meaningful discussion and exchange of views, even with limited time. Nonetheless, the meeting can only be successful if all parties support the plan. If you guys feel that a meeting for 45 minutes with these parties won't achieve a meaningful result or don't see the sense in sending high-level representation in the current proposal, please feel free to say so. Our hope is to still make this a purposeful discussion as originally intended, but we would like to hear your honest opinion on this proposal so that we can decide whether it makes sense to move forward with this meeting or not.

Kind regards,

Hi all,

I understand your concerns that the brevity of the proposed meeting would not allow enough time to properly discuss the intended topics. We have relayed your concerns back to the Minister's office and we are in contact with them about reconsidering our initial proposal for a meeting of an hour. Her agenda is truly packed, so I can't guarantee if our insistence will have success, but we are doing our best to work out a way that we can properly discuss disinformation policy and the roles your companies play in this field.

I will keep you posted on any developments.

I am sorry but I think share 5.1.2.e hesitation here. I'd love to make a VP available for this meeting 5.1.2.e, but I find it difficult to do this for a 30 minute conversation with four companies. And to be honest, your question regarding a social media post makes me even more hesitant.

For the agenda:

- Fighting Covid-19 misinfo
- Fighting misinfo in general

buiten de reikwijdte

Can I kindly ask you – given the agenda, the level, and what we would like to discuss from our side as well – to go back to your team and reconsider the current proposal and especially the duration of the meeting?

Thanks for coming back to me!

Yes, it is half an hour for all four companies. I had personally also hoped for a longer time slot, but I believe we can still set up a meaningful conversation.

If 5.1.2.e, 5.1.2.e and myself prepare our Minister well and ensure she is up to speed on the latest developments and your companies' measures and we develop a concise and focused agenda together, a lot can be discussed in 30 minutes.

Hi all,

The office of Minister Ollongren just contacted us about her availability for a call with representatives from your companies. Their proposal is to hold the call on the 17th of June from 12.30 to 13.00. As I understand from them finding another timeslot in the near future would be very difficult. Therefore we would like to propose to move forward with this as the time and date for the call and start working on the details such as agenda topics and representation from your side. Could you guys let me know asap whether that plan is okay with you? I understand that not having any flexibility in the time and date may make it more difficult to find a suitable representative, but given the limited availability of the Minister we think this the best way forward to organise a fruitful conversation on this topic.

A separate question on the conversation is that we would like to know whether your companies are okay with the Ministry possibly communicating about this conversation via social media. Of course we would first ask your opinion on the content of the communication before posting it.
