Subject: FW: abstracts for ECCVID 23-25th September

Dear all,
 This is the next version of the case we would like to send in for the ECCVID conference in September.
 I included the symptoms of both mother and son. It is still within the limits of the word count.

(as you probably have noticed I combined the information of two different LCI cases: for this case we did not receive serum samples) – we received samples from 6 others but there we have less information and they are not yet tested in the VNT so I cannot include that information.
 I hope this is not a big problem.

I received a response from (10)(2e) (10)(2a) – she agreed on the abstract but had nothing to add.

I will wait until tomorrow and then submit it.

Subject: abstracts for ECCVID 23-25th September

Dear participants of the BM of the ESGPHM,

As we discussed briefly during our BM there will be a conference in September on Covid-19 and I suggested to send in a case.

As we have a EUPHEM fellow that is a young member of ESCMID she is the first author and hopefully presenter.

In the attachment you can find the abstract.

If you want to join us and have comments or suggestions for improvement: please let me know.

The deadline is Sunday- but I would like to send it tomorrow: 11th of July.

Apart from the clinical case it is also possible to send in other abstracts for which the deadline is the 3th of August.

Please look at the ESCMID website for the topics (link for the abstract at the end of this email).

I am afraid I cannot remember all members that participated in the BM- so there are probably some emails missing.
 My apologies for that.

Kind regards

ESCMID Conference on Coronavirus Disease (ECCVID)

The ESCMID Conference on Coronavirus Disease (ECCVID) will take place online from Wednesday 23rd to Friday 25th September 2020 and will cover all aspects of COVID-19. ECCVID will feature a comprehensive scientific programme that will span a wide range of topics surrounding this emerging threat.

As members of the study group we received an invitation to send in abstracts

Dear (10)(2e)

ESCMID is organising a virtual scientific event focusing on COVID-19: the ESCMID Conference on Coronavirus Disease (ECCVID). The conference will be held on 23-25 September 2020 and feature several parallel tracks of research and clinical aspects on SARS-CoV-2 and COVID-19.

We are now contacting you as ESCMID Study Group member and would like to invite you to submit a clinical case to be considered for inclusion in dedicated sessions. The presented case should depict a realistic and representative clinical scenario. It should be clinically challenging and raise discussion or controversy around diagnosis and management. Submission of cases by young ESCMID members is encouraged.

How to submit your clinical case:

Please download the form here and return it by 12 July 2020 by replying to this email. The ECCVID Programme Committee will assess all clinical cases and make a selection to include in the programme.

Thank you very much for your contribution.
Yours sincerely,
