Thanks 5.1.2e, we have the team working on a few solutions, and we found a few simple designs that could work, main issue is validation and regulatory, so areas that government can help, as soon as you can send me a connection I can engage them with the team, Related to masks we can have a few solutions available, they are not the so called N95 masks with all protections but it can help, there is also a few others we are seeing getting close to the specs needed for full protections and as soon as it ready we can print using a medical grade material, Please send the contact person and we can organize a few discussions and get them connect to our team, yesterday we created a focus team working on that as we have many requests from customers/ partners, main challenge will be regulatory and validation, and we need help to have a fast track assessment, so we make sure that any device used complies with regulatory and safety,
