Hi [redacted]

No, I am just not a good colleague. I thought that I sent the email, but I didn't 😞 Sorry.

It's attached this email.

Best,

[redacted]

The point is (hence my question), I don't see any comments? Do I do something wrong?

Hi.

Red and yellow is what [redacted] changed compared to the first version of the amendment she sent to us. I only wrote comments where I wasn't sure.

Cheers,

[redacted]

Hi,

What do the yellow and red highlights mean? Are those the things you are not sure about?

Cheers [redacted]

Hi [redacted]

I checked the document, but there were a few things that I am not sure about. Could you have a look as well? If you let me know, I can send her a reply tomorrow.

Best,

[redacted]

Dear 5.1.2e

I have now integrated your comments and also revised the deliverables. I have also added text on shipping etc all changes are in yellow/red. The deliverables do not mention any more the nr of specimens to allow for lump sum invoicing. The max numbers are mentioned in the text.

Please have a careful look and let me know if you still have some changes, so that we do that before the signatures start (some 10 rounds here...).

Best wishes,

5.1.2e

Dear 5.1.2e

Please find attached my comments on the draft for the amendment. If anything is unclear, please let me know.

Regarding the exact numbers of specimens for which we can offer these services, I will get back to you next week.

I also saw your email with the contact list of labs. Thank you, I will have a look and start drafting the invitations.

Best wishes,

Dear 5.1.2e

Please find attached the draft for the amendment deliverables to the contract.

Happy to have your scientific view to this, what would be most helpful in Europe in the current situation, so please feel free to revise, where you see a need.

Also, your assessment of your capacities to take this on, i.e. the specimen numbers would be helpful, so that the amendment is realistic from the beginning.

Kind regards,

Dear 5.1.2e dear all,

Please find enclosed the minutes of the kick-off meeting from Thursday, for your review.

Both presentations (one from ECDC and one from RIVM) are also included at the end of the document.
