Dear Colleagues,

Many of you informed of us of interest in doing COVID-19 vaccine effectiveness studies in the future. We wanted to make you aware that WHO's interim guidance "Evaluation of COVID-19 vaccine effectiveness" is now available online. From the site you'll find links to the VE guidance, a sample size calculator, and generic protocols.

If you are planning a vaccine effectiveness or impact study or are able to provide updated details, please fill out our survey to help us monitor the landscape to help us understand the potential gaps in data as well as when we might expect results to inform vaccine policy decisions, or if easier, feel free to reply to this email with the latest details.

Please feel free to share the guidance and the survey link with those who might be interested.
