Ik denk dat we die mevrouw moeten vragen om een overleg.
 Op SXM zeggen ze Parijs heeft het voor het zeggen. En nu zegt Parijs, u moet op Saint martin zijn.
 Gek is wel dat het ministerie sante dit zegt, niet outre mer.

Dear [redacted] (5.1.2e),

Currently, the northern islands (Saint Martin and Saint-Barthelemy) are supplied from Guadeloupe with Pfizer and Moderna vaccines.

Considering the logistical constraints inherent in the transport of these vaccines, and a context where the supply of doses is limited, we've decided to organize for St Barthelemy and St Martin, a "flash vaccination campaign" in order to vaccinate the entire eligible population (people over 18 years old) at once.

In France, the Janssen vaccine is reserved for people over 55 years old. Considering this information, the Regional Health Agency (of Guadeloupe, Saint Martin and Saint-Barthelemy) have decided to use at this stage exclusively the Pfizer and Moderna vaccines.

The campaign is expected to intensify in mid-May, and the vaccine target is around 25 000 people.

At this stage, 2231 people have already received one injection, and 935 people are already fully vaccinated in Saint Martin, on the french side of the island.

For now, this is all the information we have. We invite you to contact [redacted] 5.1.2e [redacted] 5.1.2e (@ars.sante.fr) and [redacted] 5.1.2e [redacted] 5.1.2e (@ars.sante.fr) from the Regional Health Agency if you need more information, especially in terms of logistics.

Kind regards,

Dear [redacted] 5.1.2e

Through the French Embassy in The Hague we received your contact details and information about the vaccination strategy for Saint Martin. We are currently scaling up the vaccination strategy on Sint Maarten due to the risk the British variant of the virus poses to the island. In that light, we would like to further discuss our strategies and possible ways for cooperation in order to achieve herd immunity on the island. Would it be possible for you to talk about these topics somewhere this week?

Kind regards,
