

- here is an update version of the graphic:
- decided to keep the email client as a separate service, so we can share the connection to the SMTP server between the different services and that we can easier replace this part in the future to a different email interface.
- it would be a very small HTTP API (was gRPC before), with same functionality as earlier

5.1.2e

3 - 8

Dubbel